Despite numerous crises, how is globalization resilient?

Interconnectedness

Interdependence

“the traditional agenda of international affairs—the balance among major powers, the security of nations—no longer defines our perils or our possibilities. . . . Now we are entering a new era. Old international patterns are crumbling; old slogans are unconstructive; old solutions are unavailing. The world has become interdependent in economics, in communications, in human aspirations.”

HENRY KISSINGER IN A 1975 SPEECH

“In common parlance, dependence means a state of being determined or significantly affected by external forces. Interdependence, most simply defined, means mutual dependence. Interdependence in world politics refers to situations characterized by reciprocal effects among countries or among actors in different countries.

“Where there are reciprocal costly effects of transactions, there is interdependence.

Where interactions do not have significant costly effects, there is simply interconnectedness. The distinction is vital if we are to understand the politics of interdependence.”

China announced on Wednesday the world's largest trade surplus ever, even adjusting for inflation, as a tsunami of exports flooded markets around the world last year.

China's surplus, the value of goods and services it sold abroad versus its imports, reached $1.19 trillion, an increase of 20 percent from 2024, according to data released by the country's General Administration of Customs. The number had already exceeded $1 trillion through November.

INTERNATIONALIZATION

International

“between nations”

Coined by Jeremy Bentham in “An Introduction to the Principles of Morals and Legislation”

“The word ‘international’ is admittedly a new one, but I hope it will be understood well enough. It is meant as a better name for the so-called ‘law of nations’. If the latter name weren’t held in place by custom, it would seem to refer to the internal jurisprudence of the different nations.”

Internationalization

“inter-nation”

- The growth of transactions and interdependencies between countries
- How nation-states interact with one another

Internationalization

Growth of transactions and interdependence between countries

How nation-states interact with one another

Micro-level

Globalization

The integration of the world economy

Not just nation-states

Macro-level

LIBERALIZATION

Liberalization

“liberal” / “free”

- The removal of constraints on movements of resources between countries in an open, borderless world
- Calls for the lifting of barriers to free trade

Liberalization

“liberal” / “free”

is NOT Globalization

Globalization is:

- Not just an economic policy
- Can adopt other economic philosophies or policies other than liberalization

SECTION 2. All lands of the public domain, waters, minerals, coal, petroleum, and other mineral oils, all forces of potential energy, fisheries, forests or timber, wildlife, flora and fauna, and other natural resources are owned by the State. With the exception of agricultural lands, all other natural resources shall not be alienated. The exploration, development, and utilization of natural resources shall be under the full control and supervision of the State. The State may directly undertake such activities, or it may enter into co-production, joint venture, or production-sharing agreements with Filipino citizens, or corporations or associations at least sixty per centum of whose capital is owned by such citizens. Such agreements may be for a period not exceeding twenty-five years, renewable for not more than twenty-five years, and under such terms and conditions as may be provided by law. In cases of water rights for irrigation, water supply, fisheries, or industrial uses other than the development of water power, beneficial use may be the measure and limit of the grant.

Liberalization

The removal of constraints on movements of resources between countries in an open, borderless world

Globalization

Not just an economic policy

Can adopt other economic philosophies or policies other than liberalization

UNIVERSALIZATION AND WESTERNIZATION

Universalization

“universal”

- Intends to build a homogenized, universal world
- Carried out through global policies and practices that uphold accreditation and standardization

Universalization

“universal”

is NOT Globalization

Globalization takes on many different forms and is based upon many different ideas

Westernization

“The West”

A particular type of universalization of Western structures, such as capitalism, industrialism, rationalism, and the like.

Jose Javier Reyes urges Filipinos to rethink local films

Jefferson Fernando · 15 August 2026, 10:17 am · 1 MIN READ

“It’s a fallacy to say na buhay na buhay ang pelikulang Pilipino, buhay na buhay ang Cinemalaya. Ang pelikulang Pilipino ay naghihikahos,” Reyes said.

He pointed to the strong box-office performance of Hollywood productions as evidence that moviegoing itself has not disappeared.

“At bakit? Dahil almost P800 million ang kinita ng ‘Spider-Man’ at almost P500 million ang kinita ng ‘The Odyssey,’” he added.

The filmmaker and FDCP chairman then offered a more provocative assessment of what he believes is keeping audiences away from locally produced movies.

“Hindi presyo ng ticket ang problema. Ang problema ay ang attitude ng Pilipino sa pelikulang Pilipino,” Reyes declared.

His remarks put the spotlight on a long-running challenge for the local film industry: how Filipino movies can regain the attention of a public that has no shortage of entertainment choices, from international theatrical releases to streaming platforms and digital content.

The issue also goes beyond simply convincing people to enter cinemas. Reyes’ observation raises questions about how Filipino films are developed, promoted and positioned, as well as what audiences now expect before deciding that a local production deserves their time and money.
